A great opportunity to get together with other winter sports enthusiasts from Asia but also from Davos, exchange ideas and enjoy the fantastic winter wonderland of Davos Klosters together on or off the slopes. From improving your technique on almost endless runs on the ski slopes to freeriding in fresh powder snow or learning new tricks in the fun park and halfpipe, it's all here. Of course, the apres-ski and dinner party must not be missed in the evening. A coincidence creates the classic downhill run to Küblis

In 1895, four British ski tourists, one of them was Arthur Conan Doyle, attempted to repeat the tour made by the Branger brothers. Their minimal knowledge of the area led them to a freezing ski hut, where they spent a very uncomfortable night. On the following day, after a long descent through a forest, they reached the longed-for village, which turned out to be Küblis, not Arosa. This coincidence is legendary and an Alpine myth was born. Today, snow-sport fans look at this 12km-long downhill run as both a highlight and a challenge. In 1924, the first Parsenn Derby was held on this stretch. It was one of the first downhill ski races in Switzerland and is the oldest all-comers race in the country.

This experience may cost a bit of self-discipline, but getting up early in the morning for irresistible first turns under the morning sun is definitely worth it! Leaning into every turn, gliding along the wide slope, letting your hand slightly graze the ground while your skis cut deep into the snow – a simply wonderful feeling here on the slopes of Corviglia.
